SENATOR BARNETT: Mr. President, members of the Legislature. The Pages are handing out a memorandum. Today and tomorrow is when the senators and legislators from the eight states, I think it's eight, in the Midwest area are meeting at the Continuing Center at 33rd and Holdrege. It will start this afternoon and go all day tomorrow. This is the National conference of State Legislators. They are here for a seminar on Administration of Justice and Court Administration. There are two things that will be talked about this afternoon, it will be the panel discussion on Prevention of Juvenile Delinquency, and also one that several of you have an interest in, I know, in this area--Determinate Sentencing. That will also be this afternoon. Tomorrow, all day, there will be a Judicial Standards Movement and a panel discussion on Structure and Financing of the Judicial System. Also, something you might have an interest in tomorrow afternoon is the Selection, Discipline and Removal of Judges, and The Politics of Court Reorganization. If you would like to attend, or do plan to attend, any part of this session, the Pages will go back through here in about three or four, maybe five or ten minutes and pick these up. If you have your name signed on them so we can have some estimate of how many people are going to show up at this day and a half conference. I would appreciate it if you would care to attend would you please sign up on one of these sheets so we can make some plans. Thank you.
