SENATOR VRTISKA: No.

SENATOR HABERMAN: Could you tell me yes or no? Should we or shouldn't we?

SENATOR VRTISKA: I don't know.

SENATOR HABERMAN: You know what the bill does. I'm sure you know what the bill does.

SENATOR VRTISKA: Not very much.

SENATOR HABERMAN: Thank you for being so honest with me. I think that might be the problem with the majority of the people in the body. Oh, wait a minute. I forgot my friend, Senator Robinson. Should we include Israel in this bill, Senator Robinson?

SENATOR ROBINSON: Explain that a little to me.

SENATOR HABERMAN: Should we include Israel in this bill?

SENATOR ROBINSON: Well, could you give me a little background on this.

SENATOR HABERMAN: And, if not, why not?

SENATOR ROBINSON: Could you give me a little background...could you fill me in just a little on it?

SENATOR HABERMAN: No, you can just tell me yes or no.

SENATOR ROBINSON: Well, that's pretty hard to be a yes or no question.

SENATOR HABERMAN: Why?

SENATOR ROBINSON: Well...

SENATOR HABERMAN: When you're out campaigning, people say, Senator Robinson,...

SENATOR ROBINSON: There are...there are a lot of ramifications. There are a lot of ramifications to it.
